Enemy Moves Tanks Into Neutral Zone

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The North Vietnamese army has been moving tanks and other armored units into the region above the demilitarized zone, Pentagon sources report.

U.S. experts are uncertain what this portends. Some think Hanoi wants tanks and self-propelled artillery in position to counter any possible new South Vietnamese ground thrust against the Ho Chi Minh trail network in southern Laos, or even northward across the DMZ.

There is agreement among U.S. experts that the concentration of armor in the panhandle greatly enhances North Vietnam's quick-reaction capability.

The armor buildup in the North Vietnamese panhandle was noticed by U.S. reconnaissance planes watching the growing concentration of supplies and antiaircraft weapons in preparation for the coming dry season.

More than 40 Soviet-built T34 and newer T54 medium tanks, SU76 armored assault guns, and self-propelled antiaircraft guns were sighted recently in convoy near Vinh and elsewhere in the panhandle. American observers also spotted a new armored training area including about 35 barracks, maintenance shops and other buildings close to Vinh.

This suggests to U.S. officers that the North Vietnamese may be expanding their armor elements over-all, and that they intend to keep strong tank forces in the panhandle permanently.

The presence of significant tank forces above the DMZ ultimately could pose a serious threat to the northern provinces of South Vietnam.

The North Vietnamese already have undertaken some limited roadbuilding across the DMZ and some U.S. military men forecast expansion of this kind of effort as the United States scales down its bombing power in Southeast Asia.

Armor has played a relatively minor role in the Indochina war until now.

Allied forces claimed to have destroyed 120 North Vietnamese tanks in Laos during U.S. air-supported South Vietnamese ground operations against supply roads early this year. But most were the light and very thinly armored PT76 amphibious tanks.

The armor seen moving into the North Vietnamese panhandle in recent weeks is considerably heavier and more powerful.

Young Demos Select Delegates

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Executive Committee of the Arkansas Young Democrats Saturday elected 12 members to serve as voting delegates at the national YD convention Nov. 17-22 at Hot Springs.

The delegates will be Bob Gibson of Jonesboro, Herbie Branscum of Little Rock, Sid Gibson of Dermott, Jerry Evans of Searcy, Doug Rawn of Little Rock, Clay Portis of Lepanto, Mary Ann Scoggins of Pine Bluff, Q. Byrum Hurst Jr. of Hot Springs, Larry Torgerson of Arkadelphia, Betty Crays of Little Rock, Judith Rogers of North Little Rock and Donnie Burks of Benton.

Emergency Landing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two Raleigh, N.C., men were uninjured Sunday when they were forced to make an emergency landing in their single-engine plane on Interstate 30 near here.

State Police identified the men as Malcolm Martin, 35, and his brother, Steve Martin, 28, were not hurt.

The elder Martin, who was piloting the plane, said part of the fuselage ripped off and became entangled in the tail gear of the aircraft.

Administration Moves to Activate Its Post Freeze Machinery

Agnew Gets Assurance From Greece

ATHENS (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, reporting that he has "solid assurances" that Greece will continue to perform effectively on the southern flank of the Atlantic alliance, was conferring today with Premier George Papadopoulos and leaders of the Greek armed forces.

It was the final day of Agnew's official mission in Athens, to be followed Tuesday by a sentimental journey to Gargalianoi, the town his late father left for the United States 69 years ago.

Agnew was receiving a briefing at the Armed Forces Command Headquarters on the Greek role in NATO. Then he was to confer privately for a second time with Papadopoulos.

The vice president said Sunday night his talks in Athens already have proved useful and encouraging.

"The mutual dedication of our countries to the security of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization objectives is unshakable," he said in a banquet toast to Papadopoulos.

"When we leave Greece, we will take with us solid assurances that Greece will continue to effectively perform her responsibility as the southern anchor of the NATO defenses."

The Greek government decorated Agnew Sunday "for the distinguished service you have rendered to our country in the development of relations between our two countries." Lt. Gen. George Zoiakakis, the regent for self-exiled King Constantine, awarded Agnew the Grand Cross of the Order of George I.

"This is a singular honor for one whose roots trace back to Greek heritage and history," Agnew said.

Zoiakakis gave Agnew what sounded like a plug for a second term when the regent wished him "future success in the political field in your country."

Zoiakakis also praised Agnew as a man who speaks "on every occasion his language of truth."

Agnew replied that he appreciated the compliment to "my reputation for speaking what is on my mind."

Agnew's trip to Greece was part of a larger mission to activate its post-freeze machinery for controlling wages and prices while offering new proposals to strip away foreign barriers to U.S. trade.

Domestically, the chief task remaining is naming members of the Pay Board and Price Commission. These newly created boards will decide how much more Americans can get paid and how much businesses can charge after the freeze expires Nov. 13.

Internationally, U.S. officials began a series of sensitive talks with the nation's major trading partners in Paris, focusing on trade barriers, money-exchange rates and the 10-percent temporary import surcharge.

Brown Guarded Heavily After Shootout

By LARRY SIMONBERG
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — At least 20 detectives and uniformed policemen stood guard today over H. Rap Brown at Roosevelt Hospital where the black militant was being treated for wounds suffered in a gun battle with police.

The 28-year-old Brown, once quoted as saying violence is as "American as cherry pie," was reported in fair condition.

He and three other men were captured by police after they allegedly tried to rob the Red Carpet Bar on West 85th Street early Saturday. Police said they came upon the scene as the robbery was in progress, and a fierce shootout erupted.

Brown, who first came to national attention when he succeeded Stokely Carmichael as chairman of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee in May 1967, was held in lieu of $150,000 bond each on charges of attempted homicide, robbery and possession of dangerous weapons.

A witness had phoned police at 3 a.m. and reported that robbers were stripping 25 patrons and employees of money and jewelry.

Six cruisers raced to the scene, police said, and the robbers came into the foggy darkness guns ablaze. Patrolman Gary Hunt, 21, was wounded in the ricocheting fusillade of bullets.

Two of the gunmen were seized, but Brown and another made it into a nearby apartment building, police said. As his companion was seized, they said, Brown took the elevator to the "penthouse" although he was already hit. He dragged himself up a flight of steps to the roof, leaped 18 feet to a terrace below and was captured, police reported.

The police account was questioned Sunday night in Chicago by the Rev. Jesse Jackson, director of Operation Breadbasket, the economic arm of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Jackson said that Manhattan Borough President Percy Sutton, who is black, should lead an independent investigation of the incident.

"If police approaching the area knew it was Rap, possibly the shooting was a setup," he declared. "It was interesting that none of the others was shot by police."

Police said officers did not know it was Brown. They reported that separate FBI and local checks of fingerprints were responsible for the identification.

Classes at UA as Usual

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Classes will be held at the University of Arkansas here today despite the Razorbacks' victory over Texas Saturday.

It had been rumored after the victory that classes would be suspended.

"We are extremely proud of our Razorback football players and pleased that they were victorious over Texas," said Dr. David Mullins, president of the university. "However, classes at the university will be held as usual Monday."

Weekend on Highways Is Deadly

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ten persons died on the state's highways during the 54-hour weekend period that ended Sunday at midnight.

State Police said rain-slick streets and highways and early-morning fog were responsible for several of the accidents.

The victims were:

—Gearlene Cardwell, 24, of Springdale, killed Sunday night in a two-car accident on Arkansas 68 near Springdale.

—Eugene Wilson, 20, of Marvel, who was killed Sunday morning in a two-car accident on Arkansas 1 near Marvel.

—James R. Glass, 51, of Emmett was killed early Sunday when he lost control of his pickup truck and it overturned several times on U.S. 67 near Gurdon.

—Tressie Barrow, 88, of near Jacksonville, was killed Saturday night when she was struck by a car as she attempted to cross old U.S. 67 north of Jacksonville.

—Kenneth Cornwell, 37, of Amagon (Jackson County) was killed Saturday when he lost control of his car, which ran into a tree on Arkansas 113 east of Morrilton.

—Mrs. Bertie Holmsley, 74, of Batesville and Greg Millikin, 5, of Newport were killed Saturday night when Millikin's grandmother, Mrs. Jesse Millikin, 56, of Batesville lost control of her car and slid into the path of another car on U.S. 167 near Batesville.

—Suzanne Ruth Gaskill, 22, of Midway (Baxter County) was killed Saturday when her car struck a tree on Arkansas 5 south of the Arkansas-Missouri line.

—James Knight, 81, of North Little Rock, was killed Saturday when he attempted to cross Interstate 30 near the Pulaski-Saline county line and was hit by a car.

—Kenneth R. Reddell, 23, of Lurton (Newton County) was killed Friday night when he lost control of his car on Arkansas 7, about 17 miles south of Jasper.

Moist Air Flows Over Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Moist, Gulf air continued to flow into Arkansas today increasing the possibility of showers and thundershowers.

The National Weather Service said the southerly flow of air was caused by a high pressure center on the Atlantic Coast.

The Weather Service said a cold front would move through the state Tuesday, further increasing the chance of precipitation. The front, which was located early today just east of the Rockies, was expected to enter the state early Tuesday and cross the state during the day.

Heavy fog in some areas of the state was expected to dissipate by mid-morning leaving partly cloudy to cloudy skies over most of the area.

The forecast called for a chance of showers and thundershowers through Tuesday with lows in the 60s and highs in the 70s and 80s.

Maximum temperatures Sunday ranged from 74 at El Dorado to 85 at Jonesboro.

Series Celebration in Pittsburgh Turns Into Rampage of Destruction

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A massive World Series victory celebration exploded Sunday night into a rampage of destruction, looting and sex-in-the-streets.

Police reported a dozen rapes—some of them in full view of hundreds who cheered the assailants—displays of public lovemaking, nudity and drinking.

"This isn't a riot. It's a god-damn orgy," a motorcycle policeman said during the disturbance which left the downtown area in shambles.

More than 100 persons were injured and 300 others were arrested in the melee, which erupted after an estimated 100,000 poured into the downtown area.

There was scattered shooting, but only one reported wounding. Hundreds of explosions caused by fireworks often were mistaken for gunshots.

At least 30 stores were looted and 30 or 40 more were damaged.

Court Orders New Trial in Burglary Case

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court, in a 5-2 decision, ruled today that Charles Durham should be granted a new trial on burglary charges in Sharp County because an invalid search warrant led to the seizure of evidence used against him.

The court reversed Durham's conviction.

Associate Justice J. Fred Jones wrote a dissenting opinion, concurred in by Chief Justice Carleton Harris, which said the majority opinion "continues to muddy the already clouded 4th Amendment waters."

Durham was convicted of the May 23, 1970, burglaries of the houses of E. C. Hardin and Neal James.

Hardin observed Durham driving away in a pickup truck just before the burglary was discovered and later saw one of his own rifles in the back of Durham's truck.

Sheriff Ray Martin of Sharp County and Hardin swore out search warrants before Justice of the Peace Lucian J. Lee of Law-

To Increase Farm Crop Subsidies

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration plans to boost farm crop subsidies next year by as much as $1 billion in a new drive to curb production of corn and other livestock feed-grains.

Most of the increase will be used to pay farmers for taking more cropland from production. Direct subsidy payments based on grain raised on remaining acres also will be boosted.

A record 1971 corn crop of 5.4 billion bushels, nearly a third more than last year, is the main cause. The huge crop has led to depressed grain prices and has helped dim hopes for a general improvement in farm income.

Now, the administration says, if feed planting next spring is not reduced sharply, the nation could be headed for a new era of grain surpluses and price difficulties.

The Agriculture Department was to introduce the new plan today, here and at briefings at Des Moines, Iowa, and Dallas, Tex., in an unusual effort to give as much public exposure as possible.

Basically, the administration is asking farmers to take perhaps 40 million acres or more from feed production next year, including corn, sorghums and barley.

That goal is more than double the land idled under the 1971 feed-grain program, estimated to cost around $1.1 billion in federal payments.

Under the 1972 plan total payments are expected to be at least $1.5 billion and perhaps more than $2 billion, according to government sources.

This year farmers were required to idle or "set aside" 20 per cent of their crop acreage to qualify for feed-grain price-support loans and payments. However, there was no direct

This Week Set Aside to Honor Working Women

The working women of Hope will be honored on October 17-23, 1971 during the nationwide observance of National Business Women's Week.

Dee McMurrough, president of the Hope Business and Professional Club, announced that the club has planned the following events during National Business Women's Week: A coffee Thursday, October 21, from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

National Business Women's Week was initiated in 1928 by The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. The week focuses on the thousands of career women who are working together to solve the nation's problems.

The 1971-72 theme of the more than thirty-eight hundred BPW Clubs is "Era of Responsibility" with a strong focus on action programs such as: legislative action, action to ensure a quality society, action to bring world peace, action to promote change, and action to raise the status of women.

In his proclamation setting aside National Business Women's Week in Hope, Melvin Thrash said, "Let's salute the working women of Hope."

Other officers in addition to the president are Vice President, Charlene Wiggins, Second Vice President, Donna Smith, Recording Secretary, Norma Jean Delaney, Treasurer, LaVeta Mouser, Corresponding Secretary, Mary Anita Laster, and Parliamentarian, Mary Andrews.

Crash Kills U.S. Official, Eight Others

PEACH SPRINGS, Ariz.

(AP) — Former U.S. Commissioner of Education James E. Allen Jr., his wife Florence and eight other persons have died in the crash of a Grand Canyon sightseeing plane, a small charter airline reports.

A helicopter reached the crash scene Sunday and found that the twin-engine Scenic Airways Cessna 402 had gone down in a tree-studded and snow-covered area of 7,000-foot Pine Mountain.

There were no survivors of the crash Saturday about 40 miles north of this community and 60 miles east of the Arizona-Nevada border.

"There were nine passengers," said Mrs. John Siebold, wife of the air taxi service's president. "Two of the passengers were Mr. and Mrs. Allen. There were two other Americans and five foreigners."

The pilot was Wayne Leeth, 47, of Las Vegas, where the 200-mile tourist flight originated Saturday morning. "Leeth has made 600 or 700 trips over the Grand Canyon over the last four or five years," Mrs. Siebold said.

Identities of the other victims were withheld pending recovery of the bodies and notification of relatives.

Allen, 60, a native of Elkins, W.Va., was appointed commissioner of education on Feb. 3, 1969, by President Nixon and fired on June 10, 1970 after criticizing administration policies ranging from school desegregation to the war in Southeast Asia.

Allen had been state education commissioner of New York for 14 years before his appointment. In the past year he was a visiting lecturer at Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

Leeth's flight was one of five Scenic Airways planes leaving Las Vegas at about the same time for the 200-mile flight to the canyon.

Cause of the crash was under investigation by the National Transportation Safety Board and the Federal Aviation Administration.

The working women of Hope will be honored on October 17-23, 1971 during the nationwide observance of National Business Women's Week.

Dee McMurrough, president of the Hope Business and Professional Club, announced that the club has planned the following events during National Business Women's Week: A coffee Thursday, October 21, from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. ordained minister with the Arkansas District of the Assemblies of God. For 19 years the Copelands pastored churches in Arkansas. He has served as a leader among the Assemblies of God Churches and has been active in promotion of the Sunday school and youth work.

In 1968 Rev. Copeland entered into full-time evangelistic ministry. He felt that revival was the only answer to the problems of a sick society. In three years, Evangelist Copeland has ministered in 9 states from Tennessee to the West Coast pointing the way to faith for many people.

The theme of Evangelist Copeland's revivals is "Faith In An Age of Fear." Mrs. Ruth Copeland joins her husband in evangelism as special soloist.

Prior to entering the ministry, Rev. Copeland worked with the U.S. Department of Agriculture. His last position was that of County Administrative Officer of Cleburne County, Arkansas.

The Rev. Copeland studied for the ministry at South Central Bible College Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Pastor Clifford Truitt extends a welcome to the public to attend these services each evening at 7:30 o'clock at the First Assembly of God church, 322 N. Main.

ARKADELPHIA — The Ouachi-Tones, an all-girl singing group at Ouachita Baptist University, are back from a four-week, USO-sponsored tour of the Caribbean where they performed for servicemen in Panama, Puerto Rico, Antigua, Grand Turk, Guantanamo Bay, and the Bahamas.

Singing Broadway show tunes, novelty numbers and pop songs, the Ouachi-Tones were among 30 musical groups chosen from throughout the United States to participate in the USO programs which are co-sponsored by the National Music Council.

Mrs. Mary Shambarger, the sponsor, said last week the shows were "well received" by the military audiences. Highlights of the trip included visits to Panama, Guantanamo Bay, and the Bahamas, with the latter being remembered "particularly for its scenery."

The girls especially enjoyed shopping in Panama, Mrs. Shambarger said, adding that the general who greeted them there had previously met Ouachita's Helen Gennings, a Ouachi-Tone and a Former Miss Arkansas, when she toured Vietnam in conjunction with the Miss America program.

In addition to their performances on military bases, the Ouachi-Tones were given "the red carpet treatment" in Guantanamo Bay, Mrs. Shambarger said, where they did their show on the aircraft carrier J.F.K. After performing before an audience of 4,500 J.F.K. personnel, the Ouachi-Tones were made honorary crew members.

Throughout the tour, the military provided the girls with transportation for sightseeing and entertainment and assigned them an escort officer at each base. They performed in movie theaters, open air stages, service clubs, and gymnasiums.

Their only performance problem came in Vieques, Puerto Rico, where the Ouachi-Tones found that the facilities did not provide for a stage, a piano, microphones or lighting. After making some last minute revisions in their program, however, Mrs. Shambarger said the girls went on to give "one of their most successful performances" before an audience of 35 servicemen.

Accommodations were "fair," she remembered, adding that her group was "certainly glad to get back to air conditioning." She said that the biggest inconvenience for the girls was the difficulty they had "in getting their hair done."

Mrs. Shambarger could recall only one "scary" experience during the trip and that came at Andros in the Bahamas when one of the girls who was swimming was abruptly "jerked out of the water" because of sharks.

She said that at every base they visited, the people were impressed with "the high caliber of our girls."

Along with Mrs. Shambarger, those making the trip were Diane Williams and Becky Russell of Warren; Diana Kirk of Morrilton; Peggy Hellen of Benton; Anne Coppenger of Arkadelphia; Ginger Murdoch of Atkins; Helen Gennings of Batesville; Margie Royston of Hope; and Ouida Eppinette of North Little Rock.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Sullivan started his new career as host of television specials by recalling some of the highlights of his 23 years as host of a weekly variety show.

The Sullivan program on CBS was able to tap an enormous storehouse of talent for a star-drenched 90 minutes Sunday night.

The guest list, stretching from 1948 with the Andrews Sisters to the 1970 Jackson Five, ranged from former President Lyndon B. Johnson to the Moiseyev Dancers, from Jackie Gleason to Joan Sutherland.

It was a remarkable job of assembling all the bits and pieces—of color and black and white, from film, tape and grainy kinescopes—into a program that was, by and large, vastly interesting.

There were appearances of the Beatles, first in a 1964 show attended by a throng of squealing youngsters and with the British stars themselves looking very young and diffident. Then there was the appearance of Elvis Presley. After a brief shot showing the singer from head to foot, the camera concentrated steadily on his face and guitar. Several years later, it was noted, singer Tom Jones received much the same camera treatment on the show.

There was the unknown young singer, Barbra Streisand, putting a lot of emotion into an indifferent song. The emergence of Diana Ross as a solo star was traced in various appearances on the show over the years, starting as one of "three young girls from Detroit"—The Supremes in their Sullivan show debut.

Many of the performers seen are gone now—Bert Lahr, Sophie Tucker, Gary Cooper, Clark Gable, Charles Laughton, Janis Joplin and Judy Garland among them.

Each of the networks this year has a children's program that is something special, they tell us, in quality. CBS has "You Are There"; ABC, "Curiosity Shop," and NBC, "Take a Giant Step."

The latter, like the rest on Saturdays, is ambitious, well-intentioned, and an effort to satisfy critics and, at the same time, attract the desired audience—the post-"Sesame Street" and pre-"Mod Squad" crowd.

Unless you are one of them, it is hard to tell how well it succeeds. This past Saturday's hour was pegged to the word "Machine" and we saw a number of them in operation, but most of all we saw a rock music group called "Machine."

It is mildly educational and certainly nonviolent. It may work out very well for NBC—there are not many enticing alternatives at that time of the day.

LIVING TOGETHER IS THE HARD PART OF MARRIAGE
Dear Helen:

T.J.R. said men and women were never meant to live together, and suggested that, to remain in love after marriage, mates should have separate homes and meet only when in good moods.

This proposal for "long-distance marriages" could easily have been written by my ex-wife, though I realize there are thousands like her.

These are the people who want a partner only for the good times. They can never understand the moods and thoughts of others because they are involved only with what they want.

Since my wife left, I have been seeing an analyst to get my life back in shape. He feels that in almost every case, a person with a non-involvement problem had a childhood without a real family. He or she never experienced the things that make a loving family endure through troubles as well as happiness.

To my former wife, "husband" means someone who cheats and lies. To me, the word means someone who makes special efforts because he wants only his wife. "Sex" to her was what a woman uses to get things or a man. To me, it is the physical sharing of a very deep love. I could list hundreds of examples, but I think you get the pattern.

We were saying the same words but not communicating the true feelings behind them.

It's ironic that in school we learn all about English usage, but we sometimes never learn the most important language of all—the communication that comes with love and caring for other people as well as ourselves. —A TEACHER

Dear Teacher:

It's ironic that the great white heat of physical attraction can cause temporary blindness.

You learned, through a miserable marriage and an analyst, what friends probably knew from the start—that people programmed so differently could never make it together. What I suspect you haven't learned is that when an idealist marries a somewhat bitter realist, it can bring out the worst in both of them because they read all the signals wrong: idealism becomes "weakness," realism, "selfishness."

Don't blame your "ex" overmuch—outgrowing a bad childhood isn't easy. Besides, she may be a different person—as you will be—with the right mate. —H.

Dear Helen:

I'm being so frank that less honest people may hate me for it. All I ask is that they look inward before they condemn.

If we who have been married 20 years or more were truthful, I'll bet 95 per cent would say marriage has become a brother-sister thing (or considerably less!). Twenty years is too long to remain actively in love with one person. We don't grow together—we grow apart.

However, many women (myself and friends included) will never sign an amiable divorce agreement because we are ten times better off financially and socially with the same old guy. Let him chase another woman. It gets him out of our schedules.

I know my husband has another "love." I don't blame him—or her. She is five years older than he and I, about 50, but she has always worked around men and can talk their language. She may even care for my husband, though really I can't see why. He isn't much, other than a good provider.

He has asked me for a divorce. I'll never agree. Why should I? I've got it made. So long as he doesn't bother me, and I can keep the facade of a happy home, he can have six women and I wouldn't care.

Come on, you middle-aged wives, for once in your lives be honest. Don't you often feel this way, even though you never say it? —GOT IT MADE
Dear GIM:

Here's a prediction:
Six out of ten reader-replies to your letter will either imply "GIM" is short for "gimmie," or call you selfish, insensitive or just plain foolish.

Three out of ten female correspondents will be after your husband's hide.

And only one in ten will be honest enough to agree that a goodly number (by no means 95 per cent, however) of affluent wives feel as you do. And what miserable lives they must lead! —H.

TIPS ON FISHING AND BOATING

"FISH TALK"

The best monofilament line is only as good as it's weakest knot. To insure against losing fish and lures through poorly tied knots learn to tie these three basic knots.

Barrel or "Blood" Knot
For tying nylon to nylon. Start barrel knot by wrapping one end five times around the other line. Make same five wraps with the other end, then bend ends opposite ways through center gap. Tighten knot with slow, strong pull. Leave ends at least 1 1/2" long.

Leader End Loop or Double O Loop
For tying line directly to lures with built-in action. A loose loop will allow lure to swing freely. The loose single knot 3 inches from end then run line through eye of lure. Double back against standing line passing through loose single knot. Take end of line, tie another single knot around standing line. Pull knots tight and slowly draw them together.

Clinch Knot
For joining line to hooks, swivels and some lures. Line is run through hook eye, wrapped five times line and is then pushed through the two loops shown, slowly pulled tight. Not recommended for tying directly to lures with built-in action since it tends to kill action of lure in water.

Old Geezers Do It Again for Redskins

By BRUCE LOWITT

Associated Press Sports Writer
The old men got together for another one in Washington while one kid did some master-minding in New Orleans.

"The old geezers did it again," Coach George Allen grinned after his undefeated Washington Redskins won their fifth in a row Sunday, a convincing 20-0 whipping of the St. Louis Cardinals.

And quarterback Archie Manning, New Orleans, No. 1 draft choice, took advantage of six Dallas turnovers to run for two touchdowns and pass for a third as the Saints upset the Cowboys 24-14.

In Sunday's other National Football League games, Baltimore walloped the New York Giants 31-7, the New York Jets toppled Buffalo 28-17, Cleveland nosed out Cincinnati 27-24, Miami crushed New England 41-3, San Francisco beat Chicago 13-0, Detroit dumped Houston 31-7, Los Angeles defeated Atlanta 24-10, Minnesota turned back Green Bay 24-13, Oakland ripped Philadelphia 34-10 and Denver edged San Diego 20-16.

The Pittsburgh Steelers take on the Chiefs in Kansas City on Monday night's nationally televised (ABC, 9 p.m., EDT) game.

"We keep hearing that the 'old men' are going to fold or that the balloon will burst," Washington quarterback Billy Kilmer said. "We have something to prove every week."

Kilmer and Charley Harraway each ran for a touchdown and Curt Knight booted two field goals for the "Skins, but the star of the day was line-backer Jack Pardee, who intercepted three passes to thwart the Cardinals. "I guess they feel sorry for an old man," he laughed.

The victory boosted Washington's lead in the NFC East to two games over the Cowboys, whose coach, Tom Landry, muttered: "When you give them away, you can't win them. What went wrong? Our kicking, passing running—no body was playing."

Dallas fumbled the ball away three times and had three passes intercepted. "For the first time this year," Saints Coach J. D. Roberts said, "our special teams started forcing the errors and started making the big plays for us."

Manning passed 29 yards to Tony Baker for New Orleans' first touchdown, then scrambled 13 and two yards for two more, countering Roger Staubach's two scoring passes for the Cowboys.

Norm Bulaich rumbled for 108 yards, including 34 for a touchdown, and caught a 27-yard pass for another score in the Colts' romp. "Our running game was going and we mixed in a few passes," quarterback Earl Morrall understated. He also fired two scoring strikes to Ray Perkins as Baltimore broke open the game against the Giants with 21 points in the second quarter.

Boo Davis, the Jets' third-string quarterback making his first start since 1969, passed for a pair of touchdowns against the winless Bills and Emerson Boozer churned up 116 yards, including a two-yard touchdown, as New York scored more points than it had managed while losing three of four previous games.

"I couldn't hear the count so I went with the snap of the ball," said Bo Scott of the Browns, who went four yards with it into the end zone for his third touchdown of the game with 39 seconds remaining to stun the Bengals.

"They beat the living hell out of us," was all shell-shocked Patriots Coach John Mazur could say after Bob Griese fired four touchdown passes, two apiece to Paul Warfield and Howard Twilley, while the Dolphins held New England to just 117 total yards and smothered quarterback Jim Plunkett six times.

The 16ers survived a shaky offensive performance to score their first shutout in 10 years. John Brodie's 12-yard pass to Gene Washington provided the game's lone touchdown.

Lem Barney raced 28 yards with an interception for a touchdown and Steve Owens rammed over for two more as the Lions overwhelmed the Oilers' defense with 230 yards on the ground.

Roman Gabriel snuck over for a pair of one-yard touchdowns, setting up the second on a 58-yard pass play to Jack Snow in the fourth period, as the Rams rallied to turn back the Falcons.

The Vikings remained tied with Detroit for the lead in the NFC's fierce Central Division as Gary Cuozzo threw three touchdown passes to sack the Packers.

'Wonderful', Says Snead of Victory

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Although he has won 85 PGA-sanctioned golf tournaments, the thrill of victory is still mighty sweet for aging Sam Snead.

"It's great. It's wonderful," Snead said Sunday after winning the $100,000 National PGA Club Pro Championship by a five-stroke margin.

Asked if it was as big a thrill as his first tournament win, Snead replied, "No, I can't say it is. But it's wonderful."

Despite an early double bogey, the long-belting West Virginian closed with a three-under par for 69 for a 72-hole 275, 11 under par. It was worth $15,000 to the 59-year-old veteran.

Jerry Steelsmith of Syracuse, N.Y., and Ron Letellier of Manhasset, N.Y., tied for second with 280 on final 69s. Each won $7,800.

Deadlocked at 282 over the Pinehurst Country Club No. 2 course were Babe Lichardus of Westfield, N.J.; Stan Thrisk of Shawnee Mission, Kan.; and Charles Volpone Jr. of Concord, Mass.

Lichardus, who played in the threesome with Snead, said: "Sam has always been my idol. In my book he's the greatest. Over the years I've tried to copy his swing. It's still as easy and rhythmic as it was 25 years ago."

Snead said "things didn't look too good" after he took a six on the par four third hole. His drive landed in a trap where he had "a God-awful lie." His approach shot found a trap to the right of the green, he came out short and three-putted.

He went on to card 36-33, including six birdies, one bogey and 10 pars.

Tech Stays in Ranks of Unbeaten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Benny Shepherd and Doug Bice each scored twice Saturday night as undefeated Arkansas Tech whipped State College of Arkansas 28-7.

The victory pushed Tech's record to 6-0 and kept the Wonder Boys in first place in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference standings.

In other AIC action, Southern State defeated Austin College 30-24, Arkansas AM&N rolled over Ouachita 34-19, Henderson whipped Florence State 21-7 and the University of Arkansas at Monticello defeated Harding 19-12.

Leroy Gathen ran for two touchdowns and Bruce Swinton threw two touchdown passes to Wallace Francis to lead Arkansas AM&N to victory.

Gathen scored on runs of nine and 33 yards. Swinton hit Francis on scoring strikes of 29 and 41 yards.

Joe Trantham ran for two touchdowns to pace CA Monticello. He ran 24 yards and six yards for his touchdowns. Ronnie Massanelli passed 14 yards to Tommy Barnes for the other Bull Weevil touchdown.

Quarterback Lewis Pryor threw a touchdown pass and ran for another score as Henderson rolled over Florence 20-0.

Clemente Is Hero of the Series

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
BALTIMORE (AP) — The Pirates' Roberto Clemente scored a triple slam, gaining three of the major honors in the 1971 World Series.

He was the Series' most valuable player, top hitter and most controversial.

The goat horns snugly fitted the brows of two of the losing

Clemente

Baltimore Orioles—first baseman Boog Powell, who failed to hit half of his bulbous 250 pounds, and shortstop Mark Belanger, who captured the leaky glove award with three errors.

High and low spots of the 1971 World Series as seen through one man's blood-shot eyes:

Most valuable—Roberto Clemente, Pirates—12 hits, including two home runs and a triple, plus flawless defensive play in right field. "His shadow was always dogging us," said a disgruntled Oriole.

Top hitter—Clemente again, hitting in his 14th consecutive World Series game covering an 11-year span, and coming within one hit of tying the records for most hits in a Series.

Biggest blooper—Las Vegas oddsmakers, who made the Orioles 5-3 favorites before the Series, 13-3 after the first two games.

Biggest bust—Boog Powell, 44 inches around the chest but an anemic .111 with his tooth-pick bat.

Best pitcher—Steve Blass, Pittsburgh, who stopped the Orioles on three hits in the third game and four hits in the seventh. "Good as Clemente was, this was the guy who beat us," said Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver.

Oscar for emoting award—Nelson Briles' tears after pitching a two-hitter in the fifth game. "I just had to cry," he said.

Guttiest guy—Orioles' Frank Robinson whose daring base running won the sixth game despite a painful hamstring muscle and sore Achilles tendon. "My feet may be flat but they're great," he said.

Best relief pitching job—Rookie Bruce Kison, who gave up one hit in 6 1-3 innings in relieving Luke Walker for the Pirates in the fourth game.

Bravest competitor—Rookie Kison. He set his wedding date on the day of the last game of the Series.

Biggest controversy—Word battle between Clemente and rival right fielder, Frank Robinson, over the merits of real grass and tartan turf.

Biggest rhubarb—The potential game-winning home run which went foul by inches in the fourth game Wednesday night. The ump, John Rice, won the bitter argument.

Best marksman—Tie between Kison, who pegged three Oriole batters, and Danny Murtaugh, Pirate manager, who hit the clubhouse spitoon 18 of 23 times from 12 feet.

Loudest yelp—The cry of Dock Ellis, Pittsburgh pitcher, scored in the second period on Darrell Horton's six-yard run.

Southern State struck for three first-half touchdowns and held on for the victory over Austin College.

Austin College jumped ahead 24-22 in the third quarter with Rusty Armstrong's 28-yard field goal, but Cleo House scored on a 23-yard run in the same period to ice the game for State.

Lanier Is the Trigger for Pistons

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took an offensive foul and an ejection—against big Bob Lanier, Detroit's biggest offensive weapon—to trigger an offensive outburst by the Pistons.

After the 6-foot-11, 260-pound center was tossed out midway in the second quarter of Sunday night's game against Houston, the Pistons caught fire and went on to trounce the winless Rockets 112-99.

Elsewhere in the NBA Sunday night, Milwaukee's unbeaten Bucks walloped Portland 127-94, and the New York Knickerbockers slipped past Cleveland 121-120 in overtime.

Lanier, who had scored 54 points in Detroit's first two games, was ejected by Paul Holly for remarks he made to the referee after Holly had tagged him with an offensive foul. When he left, the game still was close.

But in the last two periods, the Pistons, playing without Lanier and backcourt star Dav Bing, sidelined with a detached retina, erupted for 69 points.

Jimmy Walker led the Detroit outburst, scoring 38 points. Calvin Murphy topped Houston with 26 points, while Rudy Tomjanovich had 24. The loss was the third for the transplanted Rockets who played last season in San Diego.

Kareem Jabbar, formerly known as Lew Alcindor, paced Milwaukee's defending league champions to their third victory, scoring 25 points and grabbing 15 rebounds against Portland. John Block, filling in for Bob Dandridge who was ejected in the first quarter after being called for a technical foul, chipped in with 23 points.

Rookie Sidney Wicks was high for Portland with 23 points.

who didn't like the mattresses in his Baltimore hotel room and rapped the Pirates' management as being "cheap skates."

Biggest defensive lapse—Mark Belanger, Orioles' shortstop, who made three errors after Manager Weaver said he was better than the Yanks' Phil Rizzuto of the 1940s and 1950s.

Sourest grapes—The faithful Baltimore fan who, upon leaving Memorial Stadium, stopped to yell encouragement to the crestfallen Orioles: "Don't worry, you guys, you'll be back. Pittsburgh don't have nothing but air pollution."

Maligned Hurlers Win Series

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — In the end it was a maligned pitching staff working without its top winner that turned the tables for the Pittsburgh Pirates and made them baseball's world champions for 1971.

Steve Blass, his hair soaked with champagne, stood on top of a table in the bedlam of the Pirate dressing room Sunday and shouted, "We've got a no-name pitching staff but we're the champions."

Blass had just pitched the Pirates to the title, beating Baltimore 2-1 on a tension-packed four-hitter that captivated a nation-wide television viewing audience which included President Richard Nixon.

The President called the Pirate dressing room after the game to congratulate Manager Danny Murtaugh and his team on their first title in 11 years.

"He complimented me on looking so calm on the bench," said Murtaugh, "and he said that although the day belonged to Blass and Roberto Clemente, it took a real team effort to win the Series. I thanked him for taking the time to call. It was a tremendous tribute to baseball and a great thrill for me."

Nixon also phoned the Oriole dressing room to talk to Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver, who often had lamented over not hearing from the President, despite the past successes of his team.

It was Murtaugh who manipulated the seemingly thin Pirate pitching staff to the title. Deprived of his biggest winner, Dock Ellis, who worked only 2 1-3 innings in the Series, Murtaugh won it anyway with two sensational jobs by Blass, a shutout by journeyman Nellie Briles and a brilliant relief job by 21-year-old rookie Bruce Kison.

"Anytime you go into a Series like this, the emphasis has to be on the pitching," said Murtaugh. "They had four 20-game winners, but we had enough pitching to win our division and the pennant, so I thought we'd have enough now."

And while the Pirate pitchers, shelled for 16 runs and 24 hits in the first two games of the Series, suddenly shut off the Oriole offense, Clemente stepped into the hitting spotlight.

A veteran of 17 major league seasons, the slugging right fielder tore the Orioles apart, collecting 12 hits, one short of the Series record. He was the obvious choice as the Series' most valuable player.

"This means so much to me," said Clemente. "I'm 37. I might never get to play in another World Series."

Clemente did it all in this Series. His flawless fielding and a rifle arm kept the Baltimore baserunners wary throughout. And his big bat marked the eventual downfall of the defending champions.

It was Clemente's booming fourth-inning home run that put Pittsburgh in front Sunday. The shot was the first hit off loser Mike Cuellar, who had retired the first 11 Pirates in order.

"Now people in the whole world know how I play," said Clemente, who glittered in the spotlight of the Series.

"I wanted to show people that the Roberto Clemente who swings bad in the playoffs against Cincinnati last year, is no not the real Roberto Clemente. I was hurt and I couldn't swing the bat. I wanted to finish what we started last year."

Clemente's homer woke the Pirates up. "It was like an explosion in the dugout," laughed Murtaugh, who also managed Pittsburgh's last champions in 1960.

Armed with the lead, Blass bore down. "I was rushing myself early in the game," the right-hander said. "But around the fifth inning, I fell into the same rhythm I had in the first game."

That was bad news for the Orioles, whose spin-out in this Series started when Blass beat them in game No. 3 on a three-hitter.

"I had two great days," said Blass, "and they happened to be in the World Series."

Blass spent most of the afternoon pacing nervously around the mound between pitches, digging at the dirt and otherwise occupying himself. "The pacing," said Blass,

Arkansas Clobbers the Longhorns, Take Inside Track to Cotton Bowl

By HARRY KING

Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A Frank Broyles coached team throwing from its own 13 yard line against Texas?

How time has changed.

Arkansas quarterback Joe Ferguson, facing third and three at his own 13, flipped a 17-yard pass to Mike Reppond that keyed a 94 yard drive and started Arkansas to a 31-7 victory Saturday. The triumph gave Arkansas the inside track to the Southwest Conference championship.

"A few years ago I wouldn't do that," Broyles said of the pass that the Arkansas 13. "But, Ferguson has great poise

"Oh that's just the preview of a bad stomach. I was trying for physical self control but it felt like there were 12 elephants in my stomach."

Blass ignored the parade of pallyderms in his tummy and ratched through the Orioles' array of hitters with ease. Every inning he came to the bench and tried to ease the tension by talking with Murtaugh.

"Wouldn't four runs this inning be nice?" Blass said he asked Murtaugh. The stoic skipper just nodded as the Pirates tried to add to Blass' thin edge.

Finally, in the eighth, they got him another run when Willie Stargell singled and circled the bases on Jose Pagan's double.

The Birds got the run right back from Blass in the bottom of the eighth on hits by Ellie Hendricks and Mark Belanger, a sacrifice and an infield out.

That put Blass back in a one-run pressure cooker in the ninth with the heart of the Orioles' batting order—Boog Powell, Frank Robinson and Merv Rettenmund coming up.

"I thought about a homer on each of them," said Blass, "but I knew that would only tie it. Nobody said anything to me before the inning. If they had, I would have shattered."

Powell rolled out, Robinson popped up and then Rettenmund hit a bouncer up the middle. But shortstop Jackie Hernandez dashed to his left, grabbed the ball and gunned it to first for the final out.

Blass leaped into his teammates' arms in joy.

"It was ecstasy," the pitcher said. "There's no way to top that."

The last out sent the Pirates into bedlam that carried from their dugout into the dressing room. On the other side of Memorial Stadium, the Orioles sat quietly as Weaver tried to analyze the Pirates' victory.

"Without Blass," the Oriole skipper said, "we might be popping the corks. It all boils down to Blass. It all boils down to pitching being 90 per cent of the game."

And it all boiled down to the underrated Pirate pitchers turning off Baltimore's belters to give Pittsburgh the championship.

passing deep in his territory." Ferguson completed the scoring drive when he raced 10 yards in the end zone to give Arkansas a 14-7 lead with less than four minutes left in the half.

"That tremendous drive gave us momentum," Broyles said. "If we had had to punt from our own six or eight they might have gone ahead again."

Texas could not move after Ferguson's touchdown and the Razorbacks went in for the score that Ferguson said "began to put doubts in the minds" of the Texas players.

The touchdown came on a 37-yard pass from Ferguson to Reppond, who caught eight for 173 yards. It was the third straight week that Reppond had gained more than 130 yards in receptions.

On the scoring pass, Reppond was lined up inside flanker Jim Hodge.

"The cornerback had to pick one man, he picked Hodge," Ferguson said. "The cornerback thought he had deep help, but the safety also blocked Hodge and Mike was wide open."

There was no defender within 15 yards of Reppond when he caught the pass inside the Texas 20 and stepped into the end zone with 1:08 left in the half.

Reppond had made the big play in Arkansas' first touchdown drive — a leaping catch over the helmet of safety Allen Moore for 35 yards.

"You have to give a lot of credit to Reppond for that drive," Broyles said. "That was good for 35 yards and that's a lot of off tackle play."

The drive ended when tight-end Bobby Nichols caught the first of his two touchdown passes with the Razorbacks facing fourth and one on the Texas five. Ferguson rolled right and threw back across his body to Nichols deep in the end zone.

"Nichols broke the pattern and that's experience for you," Broyles said. "He was supposed to go to the flat but he saw the coverage and went back to the inside."

Nichols' touchdown came on the heels of Texas' only score.

Despite a 14 point halftime lead, Broyles did not feel secure. He remembered 1969 when Arkansas led Texas 14-0 and lost 15-14.

"I told Coach (Don Breau) that our game plan was good and that Texas was a great team the second half," Broyles said. "I told him that if we go into the shell we'll be in trouble."

A heavy rain and Texas' inability to move on Arkansas' fired-up defense took care of the situation.

Ferguson, who completed 11 of 20 passes for 218 yards the first half, threw only four times the second half.

Arkansas moved the ball adequately on the ground and kept Texas backed up while the decision was in doubt. On their first four possessions of the second half the Longhorns took over on their own 20, 29, 13 and 9.

And, Texas was trying to catch up with a run-oriented offense.

Arkansas' defenders probably did a better job of stopping Texas' Wishbone T than anybody since the Longhorns installed the offense in 1968.

The Longhorns managed 217 yards total offense, only 140 on the ground. Arkansas had 451 yards, the Razorbacks' best output ever against a Darrell Royal coached team.

Except in short yardage situations, the Razorbacks used three wide receivers.

"We worked all spring on what we thought would be the best offense against the split four," Broyles said. "We thought we had our best chance with Ferguson in this offense. We worked on this offense because we knew California, TCU, Texas, Rice and SMU, some of the time, would use this defense."

Arkansas had the kind of balanced attack Broyles had hoped for—249 yards passing and 202 rushing.

"We thought we had to make 150 yards minimum on the ground for our passing to be effective," Broyles said.

Defensively, the Razorbacks used a nine-man line except when Texas faced an obvious passing situation. The cornerback on the side of the split end would line up with the receiver and then move inside to help against the run before the play began.

In effect, Arkansas was daring Texas to throw. The Longhorns refused.

When the Razorbacks came out for the coin toss it was obvious they were excited. They were slapping each other: jumping up and down.

"When we came down to Little Rock we were in the best frame of mind an Arkansas team has been in in 10 years," Broyles said. "We felt like we could win the football game if we could keep down our mistakes."

The Razorbacks, who had experienced 16 turnovers in their first five games, did not lose a fumble or have a pass intercepted Saturday.

Cats Remain in Race for the Title

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Last Friday night the Hope Bobcats fought back from a 3-0 fourth quarter deficit to defeat the Arkadelphia Badgers, 6-3, and remain in the 7AA Conference race.

Hope scored the winning touchdown from one yard out with 2:04 left in the game after the score was set up by a 23 yard pass play on a fourth and seven situation from quarterback Robbue Boyd to halfback Ray Wheelington.

Arkadelphia seemingly just about had the game in hand when a short kick from deep in Badger territory rolled and stopped at the Arkadelphia 38 yard line, with 3:40 left in the game, thus giving Hope the fine field position to drive for the score. Midway through the third period, Arkadelphia hit their only score when slotback Mack Harris sailed true a 25 yard field goal from the 15 yard line.

A good defensive battle was fought to the end with Hope proving to have the toughest, halting several Badger drives deep in Bobcat territory. Hope's defensive standouts were Lynn Norton, Ray Wheelington, Wade Harris, Ralph Martin, and Kenneth Ellis.

On Friday night the Cats tangle with a tough Magnolia bunch in a very crucial conference contest. If the Cats are to stay in the race they must win, as a loss would certainly eliminate them from contention. Also, it is Hope's homecoming, which should give the Cats even more spirit.

Tonight the B-Bruins entertain Ashdown in a contest beginning around 7:30 p.m. The B-team record is 1-1 with a victory over Prescott and a loss to Magnolia.

A-State Is Defeated by La. Tech

RUSTON, La. (AP) — A number of offensive mistakes, including five fumbles, cost Arkansas State University a 28-27 defeat at the hands of Louisiana Tech Saturday night.

The game was the Southland Conference opener for ASU. It was the Indians' second straight defeat.

Two of the five lost fumbles set up Bulldog touchdowns. Another cost the Indians a scoring opportunity late in the game after driving from their own 35 to the Tech two with the Bulldogs leading 28-27.

Tech took the opening kickoff and marched 79 yards for its first score.

The Indians fumbled on the second play of their first possession and Tech scored again to make the score 14-0.

ASU got rolling late in the first period and had posted a 24-14 lead at the half.

The Bulldogs came back in the second half, however, and took the lead once again.

The victory boosted the Bulldogs' record to 4-1 for the year and gave them a 3-0 start in Southland Conference play.

Steelers and Chiefs Plays Tonight

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs and the Pittsburgh Steelers have one thing in common—both teams need to win tonight's nationally televised game or lose ground in their bids for American Football Conference division titles.

The game will be televised by ABC and starts at 9:05 p.m. EDT.

Kansas City, 4-1, must win to keep step with the Oakland Raiders in the West. The Raiders, 4-1, took at least temporary possession of first place Sunday by overcoming the Philadelphia Eagles 34-10.

3 Top-Rated Teams Post Shutouts

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nebraska, Notre Dame and Penn State would all like to be No. 1 in the college football world, but right now the magic number for all three is zero.

That's the number of points each team has given up—or hasn't given up—in posting consecutive shutouts and making a strong case for the defense.

Top-rated Nebraska buried Kansas 55-0 Saturday, holding the Jayhawks to minus 42 yards in 35 rushing attempts on the heels of a 36-0 whitewash of Missouri.

Seventh-ranked Notre Dame, which blanked Miami of Florida 17-0 last week, did it to North Carolina 16-0 this time and took over the national lead in scoring defense. The mighty Irish defenders, headed by the awesome front four of Walt Patulski, Mike Kadish, Greg Marx and Fred Swendsen, have yielded only two touchdowns and 16 points in five starts.

Penn State, ranked ninth, tacked a 31-0 blanking of supposed-to-be-tough Syracuse onto a 42-0 blasting of Army a week earlier.

Elsewhere, second-ranked Oklahoma tramped sixth-rated Colorado 45-17 to remain unbeaten in Big Eight play along with Nebraska and Oklahoma State, which has lost outside the league.

Third-ranked Michigan trounced Illinois 35-6 and continued as one of three teams undefeated in Big Ten action. The others are 13th-rated Ohio State, a 27-7 winner over Indiana, and No. 20 Purdue, which nipped Northwestern 21-20.

The Southeastern Conference race headed into the stretch with four teams unbeaten in league play. Alabama, ranked fourth, whipped No. 14 Tennessee 32-15. No. 5 Auburn overtook Georgia Tech 31-14. No. 8 Georgia pasted Vanderbilt 24-0 and Louisiana State's defending champs, ranked 12th, squeaked by Kentucky 17-13.

Arkansas moved into the Southwest Conference driver's seat with Joe Ferguson passing for three touchdowns and scoring one as the 16th-ranked Razorbacks shelled 10th-rated Texas 31-7. Southern Methodist, the SWC's only other unbeaten team, opened league play with a 16-10 decision over Rice.

Arizona State, the No. 11 team, had its 21-game winning streak ended 24-18 by nonleague Oregon State but remained atop the Western Athletic Conference. Stanford, No. 15, took a giant step toward a second straight Pacific-8 crown with a 33-18 triumph over Southern Cal. The Indians are the only team which hasn't lost in Pac-8 competition.

No. 17 Toledo needed three touchdowns in the last period to turn back Western Michigan 35-24, maintaining its position as the Mid-American Conference leader and stretch the nation's longest winning streak to 29 games.

Washington, No. 18 bowed to Oregon 23-21 and was virtually eliminated from the Pac-8 race while independent Florida State, No. 19, had its perfect record ended by previously winless Florida 17-15.

In other conferences, Dartmouth shaded Brown 10-7 and Cornell downed Harvard 21-16 to remain tied atop the Ivy League. Clemson trimmed Virginia 32-15 and climbed into an Atlantic Coast Conference deadlock with North Carolina.

Drake and Tulsa, the Missouri Valley leaders, both dropped nonconference games, losing to Tampa and Wake Forest, respectively, 36-2 and 51-21. William & Mary, the Southern Conference front-runner, lost to independent Virginia Tech 41-30 while San Diego State took over the Pacific Coast lead by beating UC-Santa Barbara 27-20.

"Our defense had a tremendous day," conceded Nebraska's Bob Devaney after the Cornhuskers recovered five Kansas fumbles and intercepted three passes.

"I was extremely pleased with the defense once again," said Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian. "North Carolina is a team that has been averaging 300 yards rushing and 30 points a game. Our defense shut them out and held them to 92 yards rushing."

PAUL CHOATE

Rotarian Bill Reinhardt presented Paul Choate of the Game and Fish Commission with an interesting program for sportsmen, when the Hope Rotary Club met at the Town and Country on Friday, October 15. The speaker discussed the fertilization project at Bois d'Arc and the draw-down of water at Millwood.

He said that Hempstead County now has 7 full-time employees from the Game and Fish Commission, and the first District Headquarters building of that commission has been erected at Perrytown. This district is comprised of 12 counties, and hunters were glad to learn there will be a 50-day duck season this year and 3 deer periods.

Maps and pamphlets about the area and the commission itself were made available to those in attendance. President Sam Strong welcomed two visiting educators from Magnolia, Dr. Fay Smith and Dr. Roger Lewis.

He might as well be living in a fishbowl.

At Arkansas Power & Light, we care about his health and well-being. After all, we're going to be his neighbor on the Dardanelle Reservoir when we begin operations at Arkansas Nuclear One.

That's why we're sponsoring a ten-year project with the Biology Department of the University of Arkansas at Little Rock to study the environment of the Reservoir. This project will help us in protecting the Reservoir's marine and plant life as well as the recreational advantages of the area.

This study is just one of the many projects that AP&L is conducting to improve and preserve the quality of life. It's not just a fish story . . . it's another example of how we're continuing to help build Arkansas.

Posture Is Also Important

Dear Dr. Lamb: I am sure this question is of general interest to a lot of women. I asked my gynecologist about it and he just scoffed at me and said to be thankful I was healthy. My problem is I've gotten a bust increase plan and am not sure it's safe to use. I'm 5 feet 2 and 110 pounds, 33-27-36, healthy but thin and my chest is practically flat.

Of course, I want bigger breasts but safely if possible. I don't want "large" breasts, but just enough. I understand about cream, hormone injections, etc., and don't want to "take" anything. However, this plan is a series of exercises. Are exercises harmful to the breasts?

A part of their plan is hydrotherapy to tone the breast. You bathe the breast in hot water, then alternate with a cold compress about 20 times before retiring. Is it wise to do this?

They also claim irregular functioning of the adrenal and thyroid glands can have an adverse effect on bust size. In my yearly checkup wouldn't my gynecologist know if I have this problem? Also, in order to gain weight is it safe for me to take protein additive? This plan also suggests that one purchase some tablets to emulsify fat and improve bust measurements.

Please help me. Surely you can understand how horribly embarrassing this is for a woman to talk to a doctor in person about.

Dear Reader—I sometimes think all the women in the world either want more or less—and to think at one time the breasts were to nurse babies. However, you are right, it is a major concern of a lot of women. Personally I think a woman's personality, intelligence and over-all appearance is far more important than her bust line measurements.

Let's not even talk about injections, pills or hormones. True, if the thyroid or adrenal gland was the problem your doctor would know it because that would cause a lot more than just small breasts.

The contrast baths for your breasts won't hurt them (unless the water is too hot) but I doubt it will do a lot to increase their size. The tablet you mention won't hurt you but it won't do anything for your breasts either. If you were on a deficient diet then vitamins, minerals and essential nutrients would be required. A proper diet will help maintain normal breast size.

The right exercises do improve the bust line. The best exercises are those that increase the strength and tone of the muscles that cover the chest wall and are underneath the breast. A simple one is to place the palms of the hands against each other, with the hands held in front of the breasts and push the hands against each other. Use swinging and rotating exercises of the arms. Use the exercise to prevent round shoulders—rotate the arms up, and forward, then down and back, continuously. Good posture does wonders for the bust line.

Albania and U.S. Square Off in UN

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Albania and the United States square off today as the General Assembly starts its debate on whether to replace Nationalist China with Communist China in the United Nations or offer them both seats.

Albanian Foreign Minister Nesti Nase, speaking first, was prepared to argue that only the People's Republic of China deserved a U.N. seat and that it would, as it had said, "have nothing to do with the United Nations" unless Chiang Kai-shek's delegates were ousted.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush was expected to contend that ouster of Chiang's Republic of China would create a dangerous precedent for other governments that might lose part of their territory and that Peking's "no" to dual representation was not necessarily final.

Nase was introducing a 22-nation proposal drawn to Peking's specifications—the so-called "Albanian resolution" that would recognize representatives of the People's Republic as "the sole legitimate representatives of China" to the United Nations and "expel forthwith the representatives of Chiang Kai-shek."

Bush was introducing another 22-nation resolution classifying ouster of Nationalist China as an "important question" that could only be approved by a two-thirds vote, and a 19-nation resolution to decree "dual representation" of both Chinas in the assembly and recommending that Communist China be put on the Security Council.

The Chinese Communists would have been voted in and the Nationalists out last Nov. 20 if a resolution had not already been adopted making any change in the representation of China an important question. Although it failed to get the necessary two-thirds majority, the vote in favor of the Albanian resolution was 51-49 with 25 abstentions.

The United States on Aug. 2 announced that it would support seating the Peking regime but would oppose expelling the Nationalists. Whether the new policy saves the Nationalists' assembly seat depends on the voting after the debate, expected within two weeks.

Nobody expects the Albanian resolution to get a two-thirds majority. The crucial issue is whether the U.S. "important question" resolution gets the simple majority needed for its adoption. Many observers think that the margin will be close and the outcome will depend on 10 yet uncommitted countries.

Nixons to Attend Ike Theater Opening

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower Theater opens tonight to give the John F. Kennedy Center its third major hall and probably a new set of headaches.

President and Mrs. Nixon have indicated they will attend the opening play, Ibsen's "A Doll's House." Due to share the presidential box are Mr. and Mrs. John Eisenhower and their daughter-in-law, Julie Nixon Eisenhower, daughter of the first family.

The theater is named for Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie; she will not be present because of prior commitments in Abilene, Kan.

There are two likenesses of the late president in the theater. One is a bust sculpted by Nelson Tregor, the only sculptor for whom Eisenhower sat while president.

The 16-inch bronze bust is owned by President and Mrs. Nixon, who are lending it indefinitely to the national cultural center.

The second is a portrait flown Sunday by the artist, Anthony Williams, of Houston, Tex. The $5,000 portrait is a facsimile of a 1945 painting of Eisenhower sitting in the White House and when was the late president's favorite painting of himself.

It is a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Simmons of Dallas. He was a favorite golf partner of the late president.

Tour of Europe Shown Pakistan, India Peace Urged by Tito

MR. AND MRS. HUBERT THRASH

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Thrash gave the Hope B & PW Club a picture tour of Europe at a meeting Thursday, October 14, at the Diamond. With interesting commentary they showed colored slides taken in Ireland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Austria, France, England, and Holland. Their appearance was arranged by the World Affairs Committee, Evva Reynerson, Odelle Collier, Virginia Hosmer, and Pauline Carter.

It was the 47th birthday of the Hope club, and the group of 29 celebrated with birthday cake and lighted candles. The members also sang "Happy Birthday to Us." In addition to

Mr. and Mrs. Thrash, other guests were Mrs. Linda Burke and Mrs. Nita Batson.

A beautiful fall arrangement centered the head table where President Dee McMurrough had charge of the business meeting. Candy pumpkins marked each place, and candles in fall shades also decorated the tables.

Plans were made for a breakfast at the Diamond on Monday, October 18, at 7 a.m. to kick off activities for National Business Women's Week, and arrangements were made to entertain the public with a coffee Thursday, October 21, at the Chamber of Commerce Conference Room from 10 to 12 a.m. and from 2 to 4 p.m.

Canada Thinks Kosygin Visit Important But It Stirs No Interest

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
OTTAWA (AP) — The North American phase of the current global Soviet diplomatic offensive opens today as Premier Alexei N. Kosygin meets with Canada's top leaders against a backdrop of souring U.S.-Canadian relations.

The Canadian government is treating Kosygin's week-long visit as a most important diplomatic event, but its stirring little interest among the public in this spacious capital.

Only a few hundred persons were on hand at his hotel to witness the well-advertised arrival last night of the Russian visitor.

The 62-year-old Soviet leader looked weary after his long trip from the Soviet Union. He smiled tiredly as the little crowd applauded, waved at them and hurried into the hotel. Some in the crowd broke into the Israeli national anthem as a signal of protest against alleged mistreatment of Soviet Jews.

A considerably larger crowd of possibly 1,500 persons gathered outside the Soviet Embassy, more than a mile away from the hotel, for a protest demonstration organized by exiles from the Soviet Ukraine. Police detained three persons during the demonstration but filed no charges.

Kosygin's meetings with Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau and other top Canadians are being sandwiched into a round of sightseeing. The meetings are expected to produce an announcement that Canada and the Soviet Union will collaborate more closely in trade, cultural and scientific relations.

While this is going on, Canadians are expressing deep resentment over the new economic policies of the Nixon administration. Canadians contend they have been hurt by the imposition of the 10 per cent surtax on all imports into the United States. Canada is the biggest trading partner of the United States.

The Kosygin visit fits into a larger pattern of Soviet high-level diplomacy. The premier has just completed missions in north Africa. The Soviet Communist party chief, Leonid I. Brezhnev, has carried the drive into Eastern Europe and is due next week in France. President Nikolai V. Podgorny has been in North Vietnam.

North Texas Win No Fluke, Says Coach

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When North Texas' "Mean Green" finally decided to win one they picked a doozie.

The winless Eagles rose up and smashed Louisville 20-17 Saturday night in Texas Stadium, sending the defending Missouri Valley Conference champion Cardinals to a 1-2 league record.

Coach Rod Rust of North Texas said it wasn't a fluke.

Pakistan, India Peace Urged by Tito

By MYRON L. BELKIND
Associated Press Writer
NEW DELHI (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia appealed Sunday night for peace between India and Pakistan, proposing more aid for the East Pakistani refugees and a political settlement in their province.

Both India and Pakistan have acknowledged building up their military strength along their borders in the past week. Authoritative sources said the situation had become so grave that Prime Minister Indira Gandhi might postpone a three-week trip abroad due to begin next Sunday.

"Persistence of deterioration of the present situation could jeopardize peace and stability in the entire subcontinent and even beyond," the visiting Yugoslav leader said at a banquet given by President V. V. Giri.

He proposed "greater and more effective" international aid for the more than 9 million East Pakistanis India estimates are refugees from the civil war in their province.

Tito also said "measures

Stock Exchange Announcement Is Timely

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The announcement from the New York Stock Exchange was timed to coincide with testimony scheduled for Monday before the House Subcommittee on Commerce and Finance.

"There is no need for new federal legislation covering any aspect of the way securities transactions are settled, a top New York Stock Exchange executive declared today." That was the first paragraph.

The second quoted directly Richard B. Howland, executive vice president: "All of these matters are receiving vigorous top-priority attention from the self-regulatory bodies."

It was read to Hurd Baruch, a special counsel for the Securities and Exchange Commission, the government agency responsible for protecting the public in the stock market. He termed it contemptible.

"It denotes three things," he said. "First, they at the Exchange have learned nothing from their blunders of the past. Second, their contempt for the sensibilities of the investing public remains undiminished. Third, there is no hope for reform from within the Exchange."

These are blunt words from a government official—enough, it would seem, to risk his career—but more were to follow.

"I hope Congress reads that release and realizes the need for regulatory reform," he said. It might be suggested also that Congress and the investing public too read "Wall Street Security Risk," written by Baruch and published by Acropolis Books Ltd., Washington, D.C.

In a preface to that eye-opening volume Baruch states: "... the securities industry has a long tradition of opposing every constructive change in the markets, and such is its power that it may again prevail, unless the public understands and actively supports the proposed reforms."

Baruch was in the midst of the give and take between government officials and the New York Stock Exchange during the frantic months of 1969-1970, which included the paperwork blizzard, stolen, misused and misplaced securities, broker failures and liquidations.

Using documentation that few people outside the Commission would have been able to assemble or use effectively although they are in the printed record-Baruch draws a devastating picture of deceit, double-dealing, hypocrisy, incompetence and unprincipled and often bizarre behavior.

Consider the practice of hypothecation, "which involves pledging securities as collateral for a loan from a bank or, in certain circumstances, from another broker." That's customer money, not broker money.

Baruch produces figures that show that billions of dollars of customers' securities are hypothecated at any one time should be undertaken and political conditions created in East Pakistan insuring the refugees a safe and quick return trip home.

The refugee situation places on India "an enormous and unexpected burden which it cannot and should not have to bear alone."

The civil war in East Pakistan began March 25 when central government troops went into action to crush a movement for Bengali independence. Pakistan accuses India of aiding the guerrillas and there is fear that the two nations will fight their third war since they were partitioned 24 years ago.

The Indian president told Tito his nation was losing its patience at waiting for a political settlement to end the refugee problem.

"We have exercised the greatest possible restraint in the face of very grave provocations," Giri said. "However, our resources are strained to the maximum and we cannot maintain the refugees much longer."

Fighting Flares Anew Near Cambodia

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Ground fighting flared anew on the South Vietnamese-Cambodian border today and military spokesmen also reported a weekend battle 33 miles north of Saigon.

It was the closest big-unit action in the capital in several months, involving an estimated 400 enemy troops and about 700 South Vietnamese of the 5th Infantry Division.

Spokesmen said the fighting began last Saturday when two South Vietnamese reconnaissance companies engaged an enemy battalion. The South Vietnamese were supported by artillery and tactical air strikes and later an infantry battalion reinforced them.

night. A body count Sunday morning showed 29 of the enemy and 17 government troops killed and 11 government men wounded, the South Vietnamese aid.

Hostilities on the Cambodian border 60 to 90 miles northwest of Saigon intensified this morning with a sharp firefight near a paratroop base at Thien Ngon, on Highway 22 in Tay Ninh province.

Government spokesmen said about 200 paratroopers clashed with a large enemy force and killed 29 of them with the aid of artillery strikes. Seven South Vietnamese were reported killed and 20 wounded.

The Thien Ngon base was shelled four times Saturday and Sunday, but casualties were reported very light with no fatalities.

Another South Vietnamese base at Krok, seven miles inside Cambodia, was hit Sunday by nine 122 mm rockets and two mortar rounds. Again casualties were reported light with no fatalities.
